DRI Management Systems and Artemis Enterprises Form Alliance to Provide Seamless Process and Information Management Solution

Alliance streamlines communication and enhances collaboration for DRI's network of users

Boston, Mass., October 15, 2007 -- DRI Management Systems, Inc, a leading provider of default process management software and Artemis Enterprises, LLC, a provider of collaborative cross-enterprise information management technology and services, announced their strategic alliance today at the Mortgage Bankers Association (MBA) 94th Annual Convention and Expo. The DRI-Artemis alliance offers the default mortgage servicing market single-source access to their best-of-breed process and information management technology solutions. Mutual clients gain substantial cost saving benefits through time efficiencies and by reducing the risk associated with untimely and inaccurate communication errors.

"DRI has provided technology solutions to many of the nation's top servicers for over twenty years," says Mary Hunter, president and CEO of Artemis Enterprises. "The combination of process and cross-enterprise contact and content data management has never been offered in this industry before. Both DRI and Artemis are confident that this innovative strategic alliance will facilitate streamlined and time-saving communication solutions for our mutual clients, while also opening the door for both companies to expand into many other areas of the financial market."

DRI, long respected as a leader in default management technology, offers process management solutions for loss mitigation, pre-foreclosure, foreclosure, bankruptcy, REO, litigation, property preservation, claims and auto/consumer. Artemis Enterprises offers collaborative cross-enterprise contact and content information management solutions and services.

"DRI's alliance with Artemis will add a collaborative dimension to the efficiencies of processes we provide our existing and potential clients by streamlining communication with their industry partners and borrowers," said Duke Olrich, president, DRI Management Systems"
